Thanksgiving

I am so grateful for partners who pray and generously give to support my ministry with Wycliffe Bible Translators!

I'm also grateful for completing my first half marathon since transplant surgery five years ago and for my five year transplant anniversary coming up in December. pic. It was a Halloween race. I was a turtle --- Donatello (of Teenage Mutant Ninja...) specifically

I'm thankful for the opportunity to work with colleagues from around the world, even if it does mean Zoom calls early in the morning or late at night. pic. field trip to Chick-Fil-A Innovation Center, because we don't need another Zoom screenshot photo

Scott and I have so much to be thankful for – our home, our families, our church, friends and neighbors, and each other! pic. from our church directory, but only because I couldn't find the one of us from the church's Trunk or Treat wearing Storm Trooper masks

And above all else, thanks be to God for his indescribable gift — too wonderful for words: His grace that leads us to salvation: from guilt to innocence, from shame to honor, and from fear to Christ's power in us.

Please let me know how I can be praying for you.
